Information Request (IR) 2.1: Tıch'ádıı hé Gots'edı – Caribou, Predators and Competitors

2.1.1 The Conservation Picture: Caribou, People, Planning, and the Public Listening Session

Fort Good Hope and Tulıt'a IRs to all Parties

2. ENR and other Parties presenting scientific information at the Déłıne 2021 PLS are requested to prepare a glossary of terms with plain language definitions.

Not applicable - Dene Nation is not able to present at the Déłıne 2021 PLS.

3. Does the concept of conservation and modern western conservation institutions conflict with our Indigenous knowledge systems and practices, and infringe upon our collective rights as Indigenous peoples? If it does conflict, how does it conflict?

Dene Nation believes that inclusion of Dene knowledge systems and practices should be braided into the concept of conservation and modern western conservation institutions. Discussions with Dene and all Indigenous leaders, Elders, and youth should be included in the consultation process.

4. Do you think community conservation plans or the Wildlife Act affect our rights as Indigenous peoples?

Based on the signed Treaty 8 and Treaty 11, Dene peoples were to have access to the land to hunt, fish or trap. Dene Nation proposes that community conservation plans or the Wildlife Act should adhere to these fundamental principles.

5. Please share your knowledge about any caribou plans that have been developed outside the Sahtu region.

The Dene Nation has not developed any caribou plans.

Dene Nation is a collaborator on the Western Boreal Initiative (WBI), which is a collaborative research project being led by the Canadian Wildlife Service of Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC-CWS) and Natural Resources Canada (NRCan).

Dene Nation is engaging with its regional leadership, Elders, youth and technicians through regional workshops and meetings to raise awareness about the WBI project and its link to the ENR boreal caribou range planning initiative.

The objective of the Dene Nation project is gather advice and develop guidance for governments and other academic researchers on how to work with collaboratively with communities and Indigenous knowledge holders to ensure their Traditional Knowledge and teachings are appropriately considered and braided into initiatives involving caribou.

Dene Nation is aware that Lutsel K'e Dene First Nation has developed a barren-ground caribou management plan and that the Gwich'in communities developed a successful collaborative management plan for the Porcupine herd.

6. What support can ENR provide in your planning work?

Dene Nation would appreciate if ENR can provide regular communication in the form of regional updates on their respective plans, processes, and progress when it pertains to boreal caribou range planning.

Dene Nation plans to invite representatives from ENR and ECCC to attend their regional workshops if there is support from the community members to do so.

SRRB IRs to all parties

7. As of the deadline for Round 2 IRs, it will have been eight months since Parties made submissions on the conservation picture (through Round 1 IR responses). Please provide updates on the status of caribou, people and planning.

To date, the goal of the Dene Nation project is to identify a protocol to meet with Dene Leadership to obtain approval to work with their Elders, youth and technicians to identify how their knowledge can be used to protect Boreal caribou and its critical habitat.

Unfortunately, due to COVID-19 concerns, the Dene Nation WBI workshop, which was to be held in Radeyili Ko in August, was postponed and will be rescheduled when the community is comfortable with holding a public forum. In addition, the WBI workshop planned for mid-October in the Gwich'in Settlement area for mid-October also has been postponed due to Covid-19. Each of these workshops are fully supported by the leadership of the respective regions.
